North Male's Atol is the most known and famous area in the Maldives where you can surf in a large amount of spots. Infact within a half hour boat ride from the airport there is the first spot: Jailbreaks. Afterwards within 30 km you can find all of the others: Honkys, Sultans, Pasta Point, LOHIs, Ninjas, Cokes and Chickens.

1. Tomb Stone - Situated in the island of Furana Fush, in front of the luxurious Full Moon Beach Resort. The break generates very long waves from the right, however it only works out with very large swell. Ideal with winds blowing inland from south-west.

3. Honkys - This spot is of medium difficulty located on the island of Thumuroodhoo. Here you will find an excellent and fast left wave. The wave sets off fairly small and it starts gaining height as it passes the reef taking on a semi-circular shapes that wraps up the left point of the Island. The best conditions are with a south swell and winds from east or north-east. In these ideal conditions you will experience wordly class surfing!

5. Pasta Point - This spot is situated in front of the Dhonveli Resort (ex Tari village). This is an excellent simple left wave even when it reaches 6 ft. However it seems that the break is only reserved for the clients of the Resort, therefore surfers that are just "dropping by" are not welcomed.

7. Lohis - This spot is opposite to Ninjas, in front of the Hudhuran Fushi Island Resort (ex Lohifushi Resort). This is a long and consistent wave from the left. Every year from May to June this spot hosts the O'Neill Deep Blue's contest which is known for WQS. The wave is mainly characterized by two sessions starting off with a small swell and becoming one unique descent. This spot works well with north-west and north-east winds but it is ideal with swell from south-east and winds from north-west.

9. Chickens - It is the spot opposite to Cokes, it is named after a chicken farm located on the island just across from it. The wave is beautiful and it is a fast left created by two sessions. Definitely for more active and experienced surfers that like to enjoy the "tube" in the second part of the wave. Works well with winds from north-west and north-east. If the conditions of the swell is not ideal this wave becomes too fast.

2. Jailbreaks - (or Prison Point). Situated on the island of Himafushi, this spot was only recently opened to surfers because it is located right across the national jail. Here you will find a perfect right wave fairly fast that starts off low gaining height as it progresses.

4. Sultans - This is probably the simpler spot in this area. It is situated on the right of Honky's adjacent to Thumuroodhoo's island. Here you will find waves generating from the right hand side that can become very long with swell from the south, best conditions are found with winds from the west and high tide. This spot is great even through storms and it is also a great spot when other are too challenging for one's full potential.

6. Ninjas - It is situated 20 min north of Malè. It is said that the name was given because it is particularly liked by Japanese surfers. This spot is situated north of Kani Resort or Club Med and it offers a great wave from the right ideal for longboarders and for amateur surfers that would like to improve their technique.

8. Cokes - It is situated about 30 min north of Malè. The name comes from the factory of Coca-Cola that is located on the Island where the spot is. This break has waves with more body and it is one of the most advanced Atol in the north part of Malè. It is a right wave with a rapid take-off. It works best with swell from the south and north-east winds. Ideal for whomever is interested in testing their surfing abilities.

Malè Island Point - This is a great wave that can be found by the Island of Malè. If you are touring around the capital it is great to check up on this particular spot. Usually it is a spot frequented by local surfers and body boarders.
